

Trainings

Fun. Inspiration. Energy. Information.

What Are You Looking For?

If you're looking for a trainer who shows up and lulls attendees to sleep while reading their handouts in a monotone voice, toss out this flier.

What We Offer

If you want someone who can engage your group, share useful information, and leave them energized, contact us. Jeff A Johnson is an internationally known early childhood speaker and author. His presentations fit into two categories: play-based early learning and caregiver stress management. We could list book titles and résumé info here, we could spew all kinds of fluffiness about Jeff's presentations, but we prefer to share the words of people who have seen him in action. Flip this flier over to see what they have to say.
